Prosecution Ends Case In S'hai Bridge House Trial

The prosecution closed its case in the Bridge House trial at Lyemup Barracks yesterday, and the Court adjourned until Monday morning when the defence will open.

On trial are Lieutenant General Kinoshita Eiichi, commanding officer of the Shanghai District Kempeitai from August 1942 to November 1944, and Sergeant Yoshida Bunzo, who was attached to the foreign section of the Shanghai Kempeitai.

The former is charged with responsibility for atrocities to prisoners at Bridge House and the Union Jack Club, Shanghai, by Kempeitai personnel; and the latter with being concerned in the ill-treatment of prisoners at Bridge House.

The morning session yesterday was occupied with the reading of further affidavits.

Morris Joseph Souleitch, a Soviet citizen, in his affidavit testified to tortures he received at Bridge House after he refused to admit that he was a Chungking underground agent and had helped Allied nationals to escape.

He said the Japanese threatened to execute his wife and daughter if he persisted in refusing to confess.

It was later sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment by a military court. This sentence was later commuted to eight years.

Mitsugi Shibata, secretary of the Kyoto Liaison and Co-ordination Office, testified that he was imprisoned at Bridge House in August 1942 on a charge of giving away information of high Japanese policy.

In fact he was apprehended because he had a large number of friends among foreigners. He gave a description of conditions in Bridge House during the period of his detention.

Different methods of torturing prisoners were explained in the affidavit of Mayejima Hideo, who was an interpreter with the Shanghai Kempeitai from December 1941 to August 1945.

The most common treatments were the water torture, the electric shock, the baseball bat, and the Kendo sticks.

He also outlined the procedure in connection with arrests and interrogation.

Other affidavits read were those of Colonel Yanazaki Naokichi, in charge of military police affairs, Shanghai; Lieutenant Colonel Nagata Kasunaka, commanding officer, North division, Shanghai.

Yoshida's statements were a complete denial of any knowledge of ill-treatment of Hutton.

He had heard a foreigner named Hutton was insane and was boxing with fellow Chinese prisoners, and that for this reason he was kept up.

Beyond that he had nothing to do with the whole affair.

Mr. H. H. Rankine, who is at present Assistant Australian Government Trade Commissioner, will assume the position of Acting Australian Government Trade Commissioner on the departure of Mr. R. Hazzard on Monday.

Public Urged To Support Poppy Day

Four appeals were made over Radio Hong Kong last night to the general public to support the British Legion by buying poppies today.

The appeals were made by Rear-Admiral A. C. G. Maden, Major-General E. R. G. Matthews, Lieutenant-Colonel E. J. R. Mitchell and Air Commodore A. D. Davies.

The first to broadcast was Rear-Admiral Maden who concluded his appeal by asking the public to remember, not only Poppy Day, but on future anniversaries that the need for support will be ever increasing. He added:

"I want to dispel any idea you may have in your minds that as time goes on, funds become less necessary. The reverse is the case."

Major-General Matthews said he was speaking on behalf of those who went to war, strong in body and mind, and who have walked in darkness or in blindness, dwelling in a world of complete dependence on others who are their eyes, hands and feet. He added:

"It is on their behalf I speak, in particular, many of whom without your generosity would have spent their days helpless, but have now been given a new life through the support of the Poppy Day Appeal, by being taught to trade, which they are able to follow in their otherwise incapable state."

Between the two wars large numbers of disabled men have been employed and are still employed in the Legion's industries and factories; whilst others are still recovering their health in the Legion's Homes. In addition suitable surgical appliances have been provided for 3,000 cases and countless invalid chairs are loaned to ex-Servicemen and women until they regain the use of their limbs.

"Since the second war still more and more require the Legion's help to put them back into a world and happy life."

He said, Lieutenant-Colonel Mitchell said:

"Today the British Legion dispenses over a million pounds a year, six and a half million men and women served in the last War. Every one, on demobilisation, becomes entitled to a pension, but the majority of the Legion."

"Hong Kong has always supported the British Legion magnificently and last year we had a record collection of over $90,000. Our objective this year is to pass the $100,000 mark. With your help, we can achieve this task, so please give generously to-morrow to show your appreciation of the sacrifices that have already been made for our present freedom."

Mr. Fred M. Gensburger will address the Hong Kong Rotary Club on Tuesday (Ladies Day) at the Roof Garden, Hong Kong Hotel, at 12.30 p.m.

He will also give a demonstration of sleight-of-hand, mind-reading and a few other experiments in magic.

Housing Scheme

Sir,—As an old resident of the Colony with some knowledge of the needs of both the public and the Civil Service, may I suggest that what dawns the new Leighton Hill houses is the timing of the scheme, rather than the scheme itself.

The 14 old Leighton Hill houses were built about 1920 at a cost including site and supervision of about $70,000 a house, with five living rooms, white en-suite verandahs, and several offices but no garages. They were two storey houses (Ground and 1st Floor), three or four to a block. The 26 new flats of about the same size but with garages cost about $4,370,000 made up of contract building of $3,600,000 and W.D. supplies of $770,000 at 5% (standard R.I.B.A. rate) and site value of $380,000 at a modest $5 a square foot. This works out at about $168,000 a flat, a high though not ridiculous figure.

The fact is, however, that at such a time, with demands on the public purse more urgent than they ever were, and for building most urgent of all, the spending of nearly 4½ million dollars to house 26 Civil Servants is a ludicrous luxury. The same sum instead of being used to house 26 Civil Servants could, with the community's credit to back it, have met the carrying charges on a ninety-two million dollars self-liquidating housing loan, enough to house over 1,200 business men and make a sizeable inroad on the public housing problem of the Colony.

The fact that the public housing problem has been almost entirely ignored until now merely increases the absurdity. The figures, for those interested, I append below:

APPENDICES
Carrying costs, 21 3½% public loan, making fund charge of 2½% per annum to commence after 12 months.
1st 6 months: No houses completed.	15%
2nd 6 months: At end of period half of houses are completed. Rents received during period sufficient to meet interest.	11½%
3rd 6 months: Half of houses completed at start of period and all completed at end of period.	8 1/8%
4th 6 months: All houses completed at end of period.	6 1/8%
Total cost before loan becomes self-liquidating = $4,370,000.
Amount available to meet same ($4,370,000) = 49% of loan ($8,940,000).
Margin for eventualities = 7.16% of loan.
Residual = 41.84% above and bank interest on balance.
Residual calculation on house costing $168,000.
Loan charges 21 3½% per annum	36,456
House rates at 17½% on rents 7,675.50	13,432
Maintenance at 4% of rent = 0.18%	312
Total rent required	5,480
4.815% of $168,000 = $8,078.20 per annum
Uncovered site value is not included in cost. It might perhaps be added, and with improved, accordingly, when other living costs fall.

Housing owing to the security afforded by the buildings is peculiarly suited to low interest loans, as every building society knows, and public housing, backed by the credit of the community in addition, is the best suited of all. Land need not be an expense to any great extent, since there is plenty of public land available, e.g. the abandoned site, for a suburb below Jardine's Lookout (with new road and bus service) and in Kowloon the King's Park neighbourhood.

Without undeveloped site cost it should be possible in 6 to 18 months to build 1,200 decent family flats or small houses at $75,000 apiece, including all P.W.D. services and make them available for business men, who have the first claim on the Colony, at $340 a month apiece, this for the same net cost of the public purse as the housing of these 26 Civil Servants. Figures appended.

Those who wished, and they would be many, to buy their houses while paying rent could do by paying another $200 a month (making $540 a month in all) for 20 years (approx.) and so increasing the annual sinking fund payments from 3½% to 4½% nearly (interest rate assumed, as for the loan itself, at 3½%).

One probable advantage of such a scheme is the indirect effect on other housing. If, as I think one may assume, the provision of 1,200 middle class tenements would sensibly relieve the pressure in that field, the whole housing market would be affected, and other house rents and hotel rates also would tend to fall.

A further advantage of such a scheme would be that since Government owned the houses it could ensure that they went to reputable business men who needed them and not to colluders and refugee capitalists whose wealth would otherwise enable them to grab them.

Yours faithfully,
IP KWAI CHUNG.

Key Money Case Hearing Continues

Hearing of the Blue Pool Road key money case was continued at Central yesterday before Mr. Hin-shing Lo.

The summons arose in respect of key money said to have been paid for the surrender of the ground floor of No. 32 Blue Pool Road by Tin Wan-hao to Sun Song-long and which involved two payments of HK$6,000 and HK$24,000 at the Manufacturers' Bank of China on or about January 14.

Instructed by Mr. G. S. Ford, Mr. Percy Chen prosecuted while Mr. A. J. Clifford instructed by Mr. Alfred Y. Hon was for the defendant.

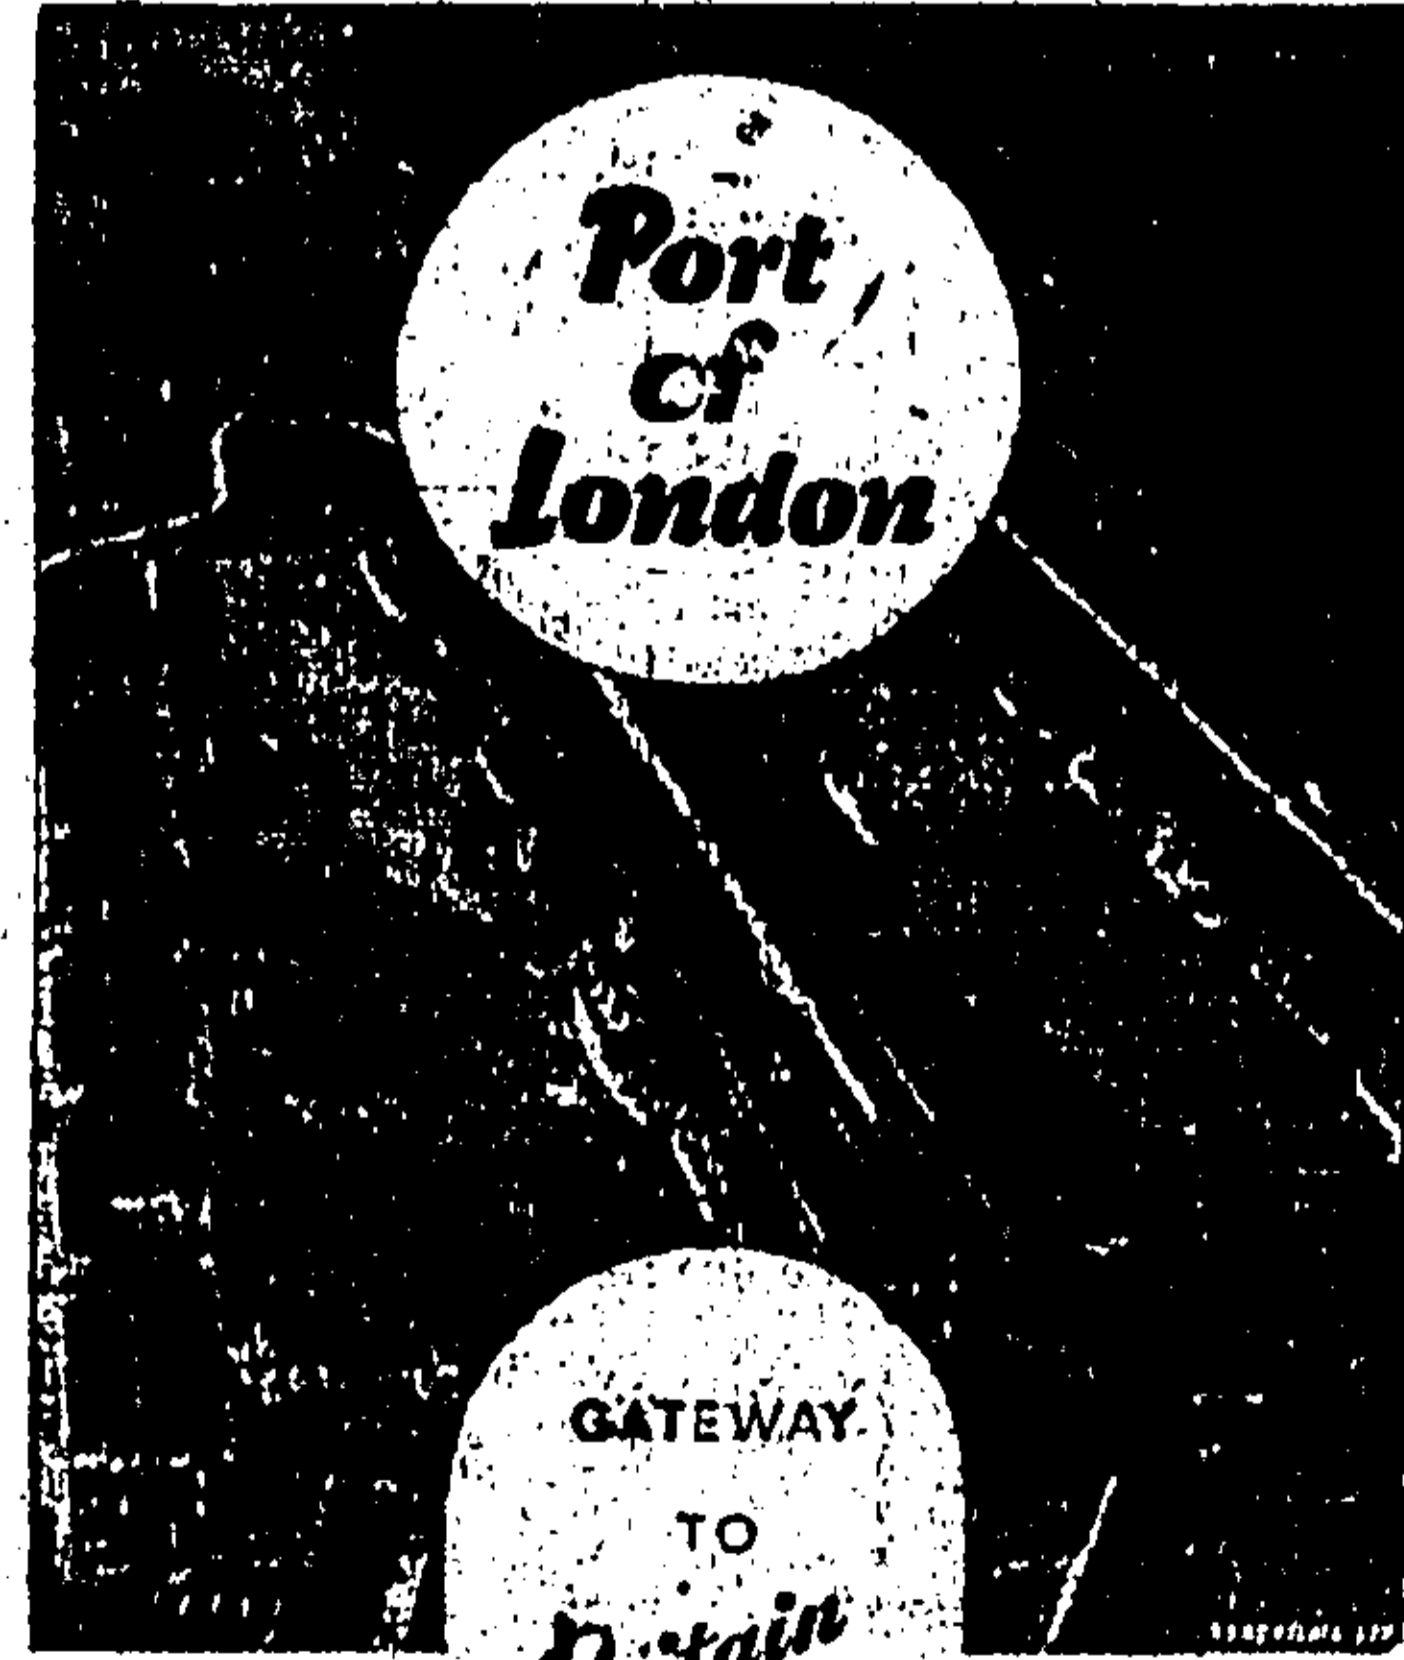

Tin Wan-hao said that he was the owner of the house which he bought in 1936. He left it in the care of Mr. T. M. King who also acted as his agent. Mr. King then rented the house to the defendant, witness returned to the Colony in January 1948 and together with the agent went to see the defendant. Witness then informed defendant that he wanted to recover his house. Defendant promised to leave provided a suitable accommodation could be found for him. Witness found him a flat at Bay View Street.

After inspection of the house, witness agreed to take the flat but later on changed his mind. He was able to recover his house, witness left for Shanghai. Returning to the Colony once again, defendant got in touch with him through Mr. Au Yeung-sing and the question of the premises was brought up. By agreement, witness returned to the defendant at the Sing Tao Billiard room. During the conversation, witness asked defendant why he had changed his mind.

Defendant replied that any flat suggested by witness would not be to his liking. Defendant was then alleged to have asked for HK$20,000 and also the condition of waiving all rents from January to December 1947 as a consideration for giving up the premises. Witness agreed and a date was fixed for the meeting. After some discussion the meeting ended in a failure. Being unable to recover the premises, witness and his wife returned to Shanghai.

Hearing was adjourned to November 17.

For kicking a bus conductor who refused to let him on to the bus, Wong Young was fined $230 for four weeks by Mr. F. X. D'Almeida at Central yesterday.

For transport, Merchandise reaching London River moved along the main trackway radiating West and East, South and North. To-day the goods-Arrian needs still travel the same routes—by rail and wide, arterial roads—London is still the Gateway to Britain.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE
By Shepard Barclay

West had once heard something about leading "through strength." That was his excuse later when his partner upbraided him for not leading either his own clubs or the spades which East had bid. West pleaded that, when South failed to support the major suit of hearts, which North elected, he was sure East had something in it. He said, West's lead of the heart singleton put it immediately under the hammer. The 9, Q and A went on the first trick and the 7 was led by South to the 10 and K. West took the club J return with the A. Now his too late switch to a spade was won in dummy and hearts were run. Thus South got five tricks in hearts, two in spades and two in clubs. He was very lucky, especially in being against a leader like West.

Have you ever known bidding in which one side showed more impunity toward the other? South practically felt that all three of the other players were on his side, since the only good one among them, in his estimation, was his partner. How right he proved.

If North doubles 4-Spades, wins with his A the heart Q lead then switches to the spade 7, what is the quandary confronting East?

WARLORDISM MAY COME BACK IN CHINA

Possible Sequel To Reds' Refusal To Negotiate

Nanking, November 5.

In spite of widespread peace rumours, the continuation of the Chinese civil war is a possibility not discounted entirely in the outlook for China's future.

Sequel might be worsening economic conditions, complete collapse of the Nationalist and a return to war-lordism, with provincial rulers bickering among themselves and with the Reds. This could result from an unequivocal Red refusal to negotiate for an end to the civil war.

However, informed sources think the Communists would as soon see an end to the civil war as the Nationalists, and realising they are top dog today, would exploit their advantage to get themselves all they want, eventually, without doing any more fighting for it.

These losses, though not as open as those of the Government, have been considerable, too, and they are encountering serious shortages of basic commodities, such as cloth.

In addition, their land reform programme is losing its early glitter, and they have had to clamp down increasingly on the discontented rural population in their areas, reliable informants say.

They also cite the recent manifesto of the Party leader, Mao Tse-tung, in which he admitted that the "struggle will last several years more," implying that the Reds were not ready to "take over" China in its entirety.

US Too Late?

The least likely eventually is conceded to be a terrible step-up in the military aid, which could turn the tide.

Some observers think it is already too late. Others feel that the possibility is too slim to rely on. Some, however, insist that China's strategic value as a cluster of possible atomic-bomb bases for air attacks on central Siberia should not be discounted, and that Washington, with this in mind, might yet exert powerful efforts to maintain a friendly Chinese regime in control of these bases.

Another possibility is a cold, hard "business deal" with the Communists, in which they would be required to "settle down" with what they have, perhaps trading Shantung and Hunan occupied areas for Inner Mongolia, while the Nationalists consolidate their realm behind the Great Wall, as other dynasties have done in times past.

The argument in favour of this is that peace, even if only for a few years, will enable a potentially rich country like China, with a low living standard, to make a relatively rapid recovery. And then to arms again.

Positive Policy Wanted
The objectors to this plan, which include responsible American officials, say that without Manchuria, recovery will be well-nigh impossible; that Russia would then have a straight land route—and perhaps direct control—up to the Great Wall, and that the Chinese Communists cannot be trusted to keep their part of such a "bargain."

The American Embassy, it was authoritatively learned, is pressing Washington for positive, clear-cut policy moves, when these are required by the rapidly altering circumstances.

It is asking the State Department to make its stand abundantly clear at each step, whoever should control China.

If worse came to worst, it advocates a complete withdrawal—with evacuation of nationals—pulling-out of whatever control can be salvaged, refusal to recognise an unsatisfactory regime, and withholding of economic aid, or any exports to China.—United Press.

US REPORT ON CHINA

TRUMAN CRITICAL OF RELIEF PLAN

Washington, November 4.

President Truman today told Congress that China has failed to comply fully with the agreement under which China received relief supplies from the United States between April and June, 1948.

President Truman said that there was apparently "no international disregard of the basic principles" of the relief agreement.

He added that any failure to comply was due to the "shifting tides of the political and economic situation and the military struggle."

"No More" Statement To Russia

Paris, November 4.

The United States told Russia and Eastern European countries today that they could not expect to get any more United States exports so long as their "aggressive actions" threatened the security of other nations.

Mr. Dillard Thorn, United States delegate, in a statement before the United Nations Economic Committee, was refusing Polish charges that the United States was "discriminating" against Eastern Europe in its trade policy.

He said: "The United States can scarcely be expected to supply out of its limited export possibilities the materials for building up the military potential of countries which have openly and repeatedly proclaimed their hostility towards the programmes and purposes of the United States and other peace-loving nations, have failed to co-operate in international efforts to heal the wounds of war, and have through their aggressive actions, forced the free nations of the world to adopt appropriate measures in the interests of their own security."—Reuter.

The report, the fourth on relief operations, covered the second quarter of the calendar year 1948 and was based on the operation of the $350,000,000 relief programme for China, Austria, Greece, Italy and Trieste.

It pointed out these slip-ups in the China programme:

Partially Demoralised

A breakdown in the food rationing programme in Nanking, delays in making payments on various projects, and failure to establish prices in Shanghai at a realistic market rate.

The report said that in addition "records of the Chinese Government were never entirely accurate or current."

It said that on the whole "commendable success" was made in the China programme which could not have been done had there not been close supervision by American officials.

The distribution of aid under the programme was "substantially completed" by June 30 except in China.

A Warning

The report said that Chinese officials are "underpaid and partially demoralised."

The President warned that any United States aid to China must be supervised closely by Americans on the spot and he emphasised the "many difficulties" of extending effective help to China.

This was regarded as especially significant because of current demands from some Congressional and other parties for a sharp increase in United States aid to the Chiang Kai-shek government.—United Press.

"Red Dean" In Canada

Montreal, November 5.

Dr. Howlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, yesterday laughingly denied that he had temporarily been detained by immigration authorities on his arrival here from Britain on Wednesday night.

Dr. Johnson said, "There was a new immigration man at the airport and he was suspicious about newspaper reports preceding my arrival. I told him if I would make things easier for him I would come down here in the morning. I have been courteous—treated by all concerned."

Immigration officials said there had been no detention.

The Dean prepared yesterday to leave for Toronto to open his speaking tour.—Associated Press.

Vital Talks Open On Indonesia

Batavia, November 4.

Vital talks between the Dutch Foreign Minister, Dr. D. U. Stikker, and the Republican Premier, Dr. Mohammed Hatta, on the future of Indonesia opened today at Kaliurang, near the Republican capital of Jogjakarta.

Observers thought peace or war in the archipelago might depend on their outcome.

Dr. Stikker was expected to press Dr. Hatta for proof of his Government's capacity to keep the "Renville agreement," which is sponsored by the United Nations but is now precarious.

Dr. Stikker is then expected to advise his Government whether further political negotiations with the Republic would be useful, after the Government's capacity to keep the "Renville agreement," which is sponsored by the United Nations but is now precarious.

According to the Dutch, the truce is deteriorating alarmingly because of alleged Republican terrorism and infiltration into Dutch-held areas.

It is thought here that, if an agreement is not reached, the Dutch will renew military operations against the Jogjakarta Government and will advance direct on the Republican capital.

Hundreds of officials and friends were at Batavia Airport this morning to bid farewell to Indonesia's last Dutch Lieutenant Governor General, Dr. Hubertus Van Mook.—Reuter.

FAMED TRAFFIC EXPERT DEAD

London, November 5.

Lord Ashfield, industrialist and former chief of London's transport system, died yesterday following an operation. He was 74.

Lord Ashfield's connection with passenger transport began in 1910, when he was 14 years old. British-born, he had gone there with his parents. Six years later he was appointed manager of the Detroit Tramways system.

He was London's traffic chief from 1933 until his resignation last year.—Associated Press.

Britain Lifts Some Controls

London, November 4.

The lifting of Government controls over the manufacture and supply of a large number of industrial raw materials and semi-manufactured goods was announced in Parliament today.

The President of the Board of Trade made it clear that the relaxation, made to assist industrial efficiency and Britain's power to export, did not affect basic controls.

All controls essential to secure proper distribution of scarce materials would remain.

The ending of controls included the return from Government to private purchase of cotton lint, hemp (sisal and manila), Manila copra and certain drying oils, certain acetates, acetone and fuel oil.

Other articles on which controls were relaxed include cork, cotton-waste, cutlery, dyestuffs, fertilisers, glassware, jewellery and silverware, linoleum, miscellaneous household and fancy goods, miscellaneous fertilisers, rayon-yarn and staple silk and tobacco.—Reuter.

British General Molested By Reds

Vienna, November 4.

According to British accounts, Major-General T. J. W. Winterton, the action British High Commissioner in Vienna, was today molested by two Russian soldiers before a crowd of Austrians.

They shouted at the General for five minutes and refused to allow him to visit a garage in the Russian sector to see a car agent.

Major-General Winterton's car, which bore flag and two stars, was accompanied by another car in which was Captain Tony Weatherill, his aide-de-camp.

Two big Russian soldiers armed with tommy guns appeared and barred General Winterton's way into the garage, shouting at him in Russian at the top of their voices.

When the General, wearing a red-banded hat and general's tabs, told the men he was the British Acting High Commissioner, the soldiers, fingering their weapons, said: "Here is the High Commissioner."

The soldiers, who appeared to understand no German, physically prevented the General from entering the garage.
A Russian officer refused to interview, did not salute his superior allied officer and acted as though he did not understand any language but Russian.

When the General returned his car to drive away the two Russian soldiers laughed.

In the absence of the British High Commissioner, Lieutenant General Alexander Galloway, who is visiting the British Zone, General Winterton sent a strong protest to Major General Tsinoyev, the acting Deputy Russian High Commissioner.

The incident, occurred in the district where the attack on Tientsin Road, the American Marshall Aid official, began on Saturday before he was found battered to death in the Russian zone, just outside Vienna.—Reuter.

MOTORING NEWS AND VIEWS

CALM, QUICK, COMFORTABLE IS THE NEW MORRIS OXFORD

The Nuffield Organisation claims to have dipped deep into its resources with skill, with experience, for performance, comfort and looks to produce the new Morris Oxford.

Proved under exacting overseas conditions, the Oxford is now being produced in Britain in quantity. Up-to-the minute design joins with great economic and technical resources to enable the Organisation to claim utter reliability with a safe sure performance for their new model.

Wind-cheating lines combine with Inter-axle seating, torsion bar suspension and a lively power unit to give passengers a calm, quick, comfortable ride. It is a roomy car with three place seats front and rear. There is no chassis—mono-construction has eliminated separation of body and chassis.

With all this there is nothing untidy, nothing which is not instantly recognisable as the best in British automobile engineering, from the luxury finish and fittings to the clean lines; from engine accessibility to steering-column gear shift.

Economical

The quiet-running low-stressed 13.4 h.p. side-valve engine of the Oxford has been made as economical as possible over the whole speed range. Such is the power-weight ratio of the car that, combined with the streamline qualities of the aerodynamic hull,

Morris Minor

Providing elbow room inside the body to an extent unparalleled in the small car field, the new eight h.p. Morris Minor offers less resistance to the air, is lighter than its predecessor, is faster and even more economical.

Improved methods of packing the engine have made it possible to provide Inter-axle seating, yet the Minor gives five to six inches more leg room front and rear than in the Morris 8, three inches more usable width, and four inches greater width over the rear seat, without appreciably increasing the length over that of the old "8".

The exceptional body width of the Minor means the adoption of unusual proportions of track to wheelbase (50 5/16 "and 80" respectively).

Rack and pinion steering gives perfect steering geometry, reducing tyre wear, since the front wheels are not artificially steered petrol consumption at the designed maximum of 70 m.p.h. is no higher than in a normal 10 h.p. car travelling at 63 m.p.h.

The bench-type seat's enable 5/6 passengers to be accommodated between the axles. A steering column gear shift and a handbrake lever mounted under the instrument panel leave the front unobstructed, while the typoid-type back axle permits the rear passengers to move their feet freely, unrestricted by awkward hollows and tunnels. Although the whole car is slung low-on-the-road for stability and safety, there is still plenty of ground clearance.

Four people can easily stow their personal luggage in the 10 cubic feet of storage space provided in the rear boot which is automatically illuminated when the parking lights are on and the cover raised.

Excellent visibility is attained by keeping the bonnet as short as possible, and by limiting the door frame widths to produce narrow body pillars.

Scientific distribution of the weight has resulted in increased road-holding ability allowing the front brakes to play a greater part in stopping the car, thus making for improved stability under all running conditions. Large area drums are fitted in the front brakes, and double-leading-edge shoes are provided there.

over bumps and irregularities. These wheels are also arranged to swivel through a very wide angle, giving a smaller turning circle and greater manoeuvrability.

All the steel metal front of the Minor except the wings forms the front of the car end, when lifted, discloses the entire power unit and accessories, so that groping for the dipstick and similar "blind" operations are finally abolished. An additional refinement in the field of off-road cars is the provision of automatic under-bonnet illumination when the parking lights are on.

Morris "Six"

The first Morris six-cylinder car to be produced for 10 years, is a fast, long distance touring saloon with a 2.2 litre, flexibly mounted overhead-camshaft engine, of an almost "square" design, with sturdy reciprocating parts and a low piston speed.

Drum and disc excluders are fitted to the saloon, and a special coating sprayed on the inside of the all-steel body absorbs road noise.

Driving comfort is assured by good visibility, a steering column gear shift, a tubular construction front seat with tension springs, and an indirectly illuminated instrument panel.

Light, accurate steering is given by a cam gear steering system and a special design of divided track rod linkages.

THE NEW MORRIS OXFORD, as with other British cars of the present, is a radical departure both in design and performance from the car of the same name we once knew. Graceful and powerful at the same time, it is an up-to-the-minute example of Britain's progress.

HIGH PRICES ARE A SNAG

Low petrol consumption and compact size are two of the features which are helping to sell British cars in the United States, according to a report on the American market for British cars, prepared by the Export Promotion Department of the Board of Trade.

Comparable models from other foreign countries do not enjoy the respect shown to British products, owing to their less attractive finish and qualities. Price of the British product is itemised as a particular handicap to increased sales, although the small and cheaper American Crosley and Hantam are not regarded as serious competitors.

Another source states that in South Africa, where conditions and roads are very bad, post-war American cars on the road "with their over-chromed and massive front ends, do not stand up to rough usage."

"One sees on the road today," says the writer, "American cars with their door handles at all angles and strips of chromium on the sides of their wings and doors falling off for no apparent reason."

"Britain has a good market in South Africa, but prices must come down. The new Standard Vanguard and Austin A 40's are the type of car we want—modern in appearance, but not jammed full of new-fangled devices—but the prices are high. If prices were brought down more people would buy British cars. Air-conditioning and radio are two much-wanted features in cars for South Africa."

(Price of the Vanguard in South Africa is £605, according to the magazine "Autocar.")

ANTI-THEFT DEVICE

A feature of the anti-theft device produced by Automatic Ignition Locks, 106, Newbridge Road, Bath, Somerset, is that the car owner cannot forget to set it as it automatically comes into operation as soon as the ignition has been switched off.

The device consists of a telephone-type relay wired up to the coil, the contact breaker and the horn. If an unauthorised person attempts to start the car he will set the horn working as soon as he switches on the ignition. Breaking the horn wiring circuit will not put the device out of action and even if a wire is connected direct from the battery to the coil the car still cannot be started.

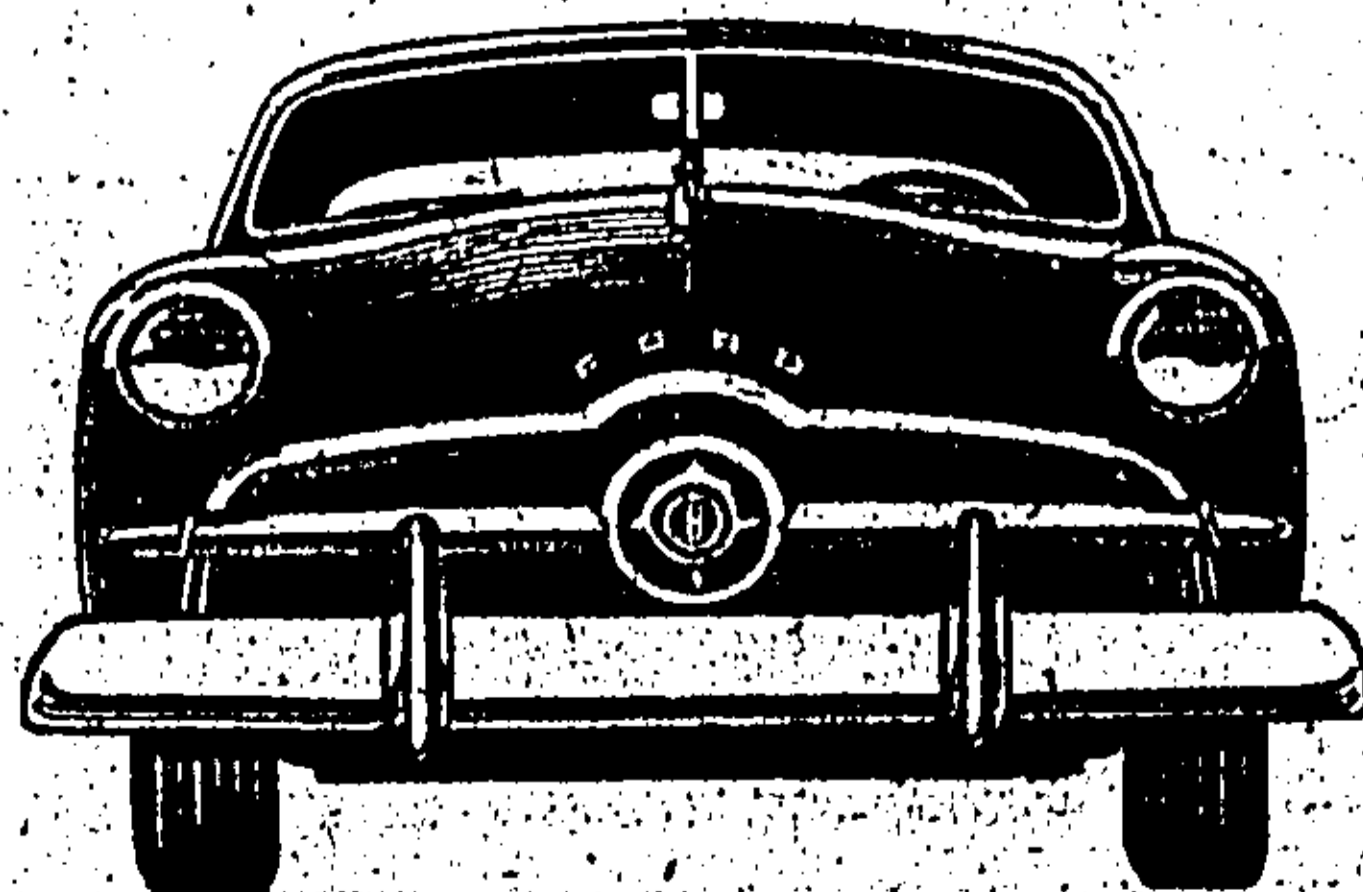

All that the rightful owner has to do is to press a concealed switch that trips the relay and allows the car to be started in the normal way. If the owner forgets to press the switch the sounding of the horn will remind him. Both the lock and switch can be mounted practically anywhere in the car so that the object of the device would not necessarily be defeated by anyone familiar with its working.

BRIBES FOR NEW CAR DELIVERIES

The sales manager of a garage in England was recently fined £50 and 10 guineas costs under the Bribery and Corruption Act for accepting bribes to influence the sales and deliveries of new cars.

UN CALLS FOR TRUCE IN SOUTH PALESTINE

De Gaulle Henchmen Resign

Paris, November 4. Four Municipal Councillors of Deauville, French Channel coast town, resigned from General Charles de Gaulle's party today in protest against the list of Gaullist candidates for Sunday's elections to the Council of the Republic (Upper House).

Other Gaullist resignations reported in the past two days have included the Mayors of Grenoble and of Colmar, and 23 out of 25 members of the Party's Mauthier-Mobelle Departmental Committee.

Two leading members of the Party in the Meuse Department also resigned from the party today.

The chairman of the Radical Party in the Seine Department has accused the Gaullist organization of issuing "orders".

The differences between the Gaullists and the Radicals and Independents may lead to lower de Gaulle's success in next Sunday's election.—Reuter.

Paris, November 4. The Security Council tonight adopted a resolution calling on the Egyptians and the Israeli authorities to restore the truce in the Negev area of Southern Palestine. The voting was nine to one, with one abstention.

Although Soviet Russia earlier had announced that the resolution containing the cease fire call was "entirely unacceptable," the Soviet delegate abstained in the vote and thus did not veto it. The Ukrainian delegate gave the single contrary vote.

The resolution presented by Britain and China was watered down today by the American demands that both parties:

1.—Withdraw to the positions they held before the Negev truce breach.

2.—Negotiate directly, or through United Nations mediators, to establish permanent truce lines and neutral zones to ensure the full observance of the truce in future.

The resolution added that if either or both parties failed to comply with these demands, a seven-nation committee, consisting of the "Big Five," Belgium and Colombia, should report to the Security Council on measures to be taken under Chapter 7 of the United Nations Charter.

Sanctions

This Chapter provides for settlements of disputes by measures which include negotiation, sanctions and armed force. By one of the strongest votes in its history, the Security Council rejected by two votes to one, with eight abstentions, a Ukrainian resolution calling for the resumption of direct negotiations between the Egyptians and the Jews.

The sole contrary vote was cast by Syria. The Soviet Union and the Ukraine voted in favour. Until the United States delegate brought forward his amendments this afternoon, the Anglo-Chinese resolution contained a threat of sanctions on any party to the Jewish-Egyptian dispute which failed to comply with the decisions of the Security Council in accordance with Article 41 of the Charter.

The United States delegate asked the Security Council not to threaten the Arabs and Jews with "sanctions" if they fail to observe the truce in Palestine.

US Request

Dr. Philip Jessup, the American delegate, asked the Council for the deletion from the resolution of any mention of Article 41. The resolution which Dr. Jessup wanted to amend was passed up from the Sub-Committee of the Council, which recommended it by four votes to one (Ukraine), with a French reservation that the paragraph concerning sanctions—considered by Britain, China and Belgium to be the essence of the resolution—be discussed in the full Council.

The Ukraine also reserved its right to bring up a substitute resolution urging a simple continuation of negotiations between the two parties as recommended in the last Security Council resolution of October 19. The other delegations opposed this on account of the alleged ambiguity of the October 19 resolution.—Reuter.

Red Army In Iran Border Incident

Tehran, November 5. A usually reliable source said today that Iran had protested to Russia that Soviet soldiers invaded Iranian territory last week. The report of the protest was not officially confirmed. A Government spokesman said 200 Russian troops, with armament including a tank, crossed the frontier from Soviet Azerbaijan on October 26 and fought a four-hour battle with Iranian frontier guards.—Associated Press.

CONSTITUTION FOR FREE INDIA

New Delhi, November 4. The Constituent Assembly of India met here today to consider a draft constitution for a Free India, which was published eight months ago and has since been discussed at the various Provincial Assemblies. Described as the bulkiest written constitution in the world, the draft contains 315 articles and eight schedules. Over 300 technical and verbal amendments have been put forward.

The draft provides for a President, elected for a five-year term by an electoral college, an upper house and a lower house elected by adult suffrage.

A Prime Minister at the head of a Council of Ministers would advise the President.

Separate electorates for different communities would be abolished, but seats would be set aside in proportion to their numbers for certain communities in some States.—Reuter.

Isolationists Now In Total Eclipse

Washington, November 4. American plans to rearm Europe were improved by President Truman's re-election and the defeat of many in Congress who fought his foreign policy.

The hard core of the opposition to United States foreign spending for recovery or for arms appeared to be shattered by the defeat of seven Senators and a dozen House members.

The indications are that the Administration now will speed work on plans for a military defence alliance with Western Europe and for lend-lease shipment of arms to non-Communist nations.

Foreign policy planners said the Democratic election sweep eliminated a potentially dangerous interim period in the conduct of foreign affairs. They had been fearful that Russia, if the Republicans won, might make an aggressive move in Europe during the change-over in administration.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican Foreign policy leader, will be replaced as Foreign Relations Committee chairman by Senator Tom Connally of Texas. Sol Bloom of New York will shift places with Chairman Charles McNary of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Not Much Effect

But these changes will not have much effect on foreign policy.

The team of Vandenberg, Connally, Bloom and Eaton has been in operation since the United Nations Charter convention in San Francisco in 1945. The outgoing and incoming chairman talk alike and think alike on foreign policy matters. The policies favoured by Senator Vandenberg and Representative Eaton will be strengthened rather than weakened by the defeat of many of their party colleagues.

Among the Congressmen rejected at the polls on Tuesday were many who fought hard against a non-political foreign policy programme.

Among the Senate Republican election casualties was a number of "revisionists"—men who want to kill or curtail the Marshall plan spending. They included Senators Henry C. Dworshak, Wayne Brooks, George Wilson, Joseph Ball, C. Douglas Buck and Edward V. Rieker.

The defeated Republican Representatives who fought the Republican foreign policy leadership included Harold Knutson, Howard Buffel, Fred Busbey, Gerald W. Landis, William C. Cole, George Schwabe and Max Schwabe.

More For ERP

With the elections over, observers expected:

(1) Clear sailing for renewal of the Marshall plan with more money.

(2) Probable early final recognition plus substantial United States loans for Israel.

(3) Continuation of the Greece and Turkey "quarantine Communism" programme until the civil war can be ended in Greece.

(4) Renewed efforts to get long-term renewal of tariff cutting, reciprocal trade agreements programme without restrictions.

(5) Continued support for the United Nations in all its activities.—United Press.

OLDEST ACTOR DEAD

London, November 5. Vincent Sternroyd, who claimed to be the oldest actor, died today in a London nursing home aged 91. Sternroyd first appeared on the stage in 1879. He appeared six times with Sir Seymour Hicks, the first time 32 years ago.—Reuter.

TURKISH BAN ON UK IMPORTS

Istanbul, November 6. Turkey brought import trade with Britain to a standstill today by suspending the issue of licences for imports from the sterling area. The measure followed the fall of her sterling balances in Britain to under £2,000,000. British circles here thought the Turkish economy would face "a very difficult few months" until it could rebuild its sterling balances.—Reuter.

Two Britons Get A Nobel Prize

Stockholm, November 4. Professor P.M.S. Blackett, the leading British physicist, was tonight awarded the Nobel Prize for physics for "his work on cosmic radiation and his development of the Wilson method."

The Nobel Prize for chemistry was awarded to Professor Arne Tiselius of Uppsala University of Sweden for "the discovery of a method of measuring molecules in albumen."

The awards were announced at a session of the Royal Academy of Science here. The award of the Nobel Prize to Mr. T. S. Eliot, the poet and man of letters, was announced earlier today.

Professor P.M.S. Blackett, who will be 51 this month, has gained a world wide reputation for his work on atomic physics. With an Italian physicist, he confirmed the existence of the positive electron or "positron", first discovered in America. Working under Professor (later Lord) Rutherford from 1923 to 1933, Professor Blackett took part in important discoveries as to the nature of the atom and how it could be split.

Mr. Eliot is an American by birth. He was educated at Harvard, the Sorbonne in Paris and at Oxford University. He settled in England in 1927 and became naturalised in 1927. Tall, thin and clean shaven with smooth brown hair and wearing spectacles, Mr. Eliot is

SEA HEALTH OFFICE HEAD

Geneva, November 4. The World Health Organisation Executive Board has unanimously approved the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel Chandra Mani of India as Director of the Regional Health Office for South East Asia.

The Regional Office, now formally recognised by the World Health Organisation Executive Board, was planned last month at a conference held in New Delhi with representatives from India, Ceylon, Siam, Burma and Afghanistan.

Nepal and Malaya may join at a later date. New Delhi was chosen as the site of the Regional Office.—Reuter.

China First Should Be US Policy

Shanghai, November 5. Dr. Carson Chang, leader of China's Democratic Socialist Party, stressed last night that the United States should revise her China policy immediately, in view of the fast changing circumstances.

Dr. Chang, who returned to Shanghai on Wednesday after an extensive tour of the interior provinces, expressed the belief that the United States China policy needed revision now, more than ever before, in view of the fast changing circumstances both in China and the world.

Such timely revision is bound to be made, he said, whether Truman or Dewey is at the helm of the United States Government," he said.

By this, the party leader said, he meant that the United States traditional "Europe first" policy will not fall in conformity with the actual course of events in China and the world today.—Reuter.

FANATIC TO BE PUT ON TRIAL

New Delhi, November 4. Kazim Rasvi, leader of the fanatical Moslem group called the Rakazars in Hyderabad, who was captured by Indian troops in September, will return to Hyderabad to stand trial for murder. Rasvi will be charged with ordering the death of a Moslem, Litor Obedullah, who was stabbed to death and had his hands amputated for criticising the Rakazars.—United Press.

YOUNG VICS IN AMSTERDAM

Amsterdam, November 5. The Young Vic Company, on a three-week tour of the Benelux countries, gave a first performance of Shakespeare's "As You Like It" to a large and appreciative audience in Amsterdam's Municipal Theatre last night.

Other performances will be given at The Hague, Utrecht and Leiden. From Holland they will go to Belgium and Luxembourg.—Associated Press.

Chiang Kai-Shek Cable To Truman

Nanking, November 5. President Chiang Kai-shek was among the many top-ranking Chinese officials who sent congratulations to President Truman on his re-election.

President Chiang's message, forwarded through the Chinese Embassy in Washington, said: "On behalf of the Chinese Government and people, I take great pleasure in conveying to you my hearty congratulations and best wishes for your re-election as President of the United States of America."

Dr. Chu Chin-hua, President of the United Nations Association of China, in a message of congratulation to President Truman,

THE RIGHT THING at the right time!

One day, a fisherman who loved music, succeeded the fish with his fish, hoping to induce them to shore. But they would not respond. Angered, he cast his net and caught a multitude. When the fish realized they were caught, they leaped about trying to escape. "Ho, ho," said the fisherman, "now you will suffer. You would not dance when I wanted you to, I will have some of your dancing now!"

WORLD FOOD PROBLEM STILL SERIOUS

Washington, November 4.

The Food and Agricultural Organisation in a survey of world food conditions and prospects said today the nations of the world are not doing and planning enough to cope with the world's long term food needs.

Delegates attending the forthcoming F.A.O. conference of 57 nations in Washington will be presented with reports showing that world efforts at reconstruction in the 1947-48 crop year have been the most effective since the war but F.A.O. officials said today that the general world picture leaves little room for complacency.

The survey shows that millions of people are still hungry, and that the world population increases more rapidly than production. Low income countries continue to lack money for investment while technically advanced countries show growing concern as to whether markets can be found for their surplus products.

The Far East

The outstanding fact is that the world is still producing less food and fibres and only slightly more forest products than before the war.

Most of the Far and Near East countries must organise large increases in production with the emphasis in agriculture on increasing output per acre. Financial assistance and trained personnel are essential. The main problem in Africa and Latin America is to organise and expand food and other agricultural production. There is also a shortage of technicians and a need for large-scale investment.

The problem in Europe is to restore international trade so that Europe can produce and exchange industrial and other products for foodstuffs and raw materials produced overseas. The alternative is to concentrate on programmes of agricultural self-sufficiency, with possibly reduced food standards.

100 Per Cent

The four main exporting countries, the United States, Canada, Australia and New Zealand, can still expand production under favourable circumstances but there is evidence of caution, until export markets for surplus products are more certain.

To reach a satisfactory level in some of the worst fed countries food production would have to expand by 100 per cent.

Two methods must principally be used. One is the better distribution of supplies among the various income groups. The other is to raise the output of the whole country and to find means for making sure that importing countries can export goods to pay for the food needed.—Reuter.

Demand For More Aid To China

New York, November 4.

Calling for renewed aid for China, Harper's Journal American today said in an editorial. "The capture of Mukden by the Chinese Reds is ominous military news."

It warned that unless the Nationalists won the war in Manchuria, which it called "the most strategic area in the Far East," they would lose the war in the rest of China "and make inevitable the bolshevisation of all Asia."

Max Lerner of the New York Star wrote that Mukden's fall meant the "end of Chiang's power is in sight and the civil war in China has passed the hour of decision."

Claiming that American policymakers had misjudged the character of the Chinese revolution, Lerner said it would probably go on "under the auspices

Dismissal of BOAC Workers

London, November 4.
Between 450 and 500 locally hired employees of the British Overseas Airways Corporation in the Middle East are to be dismissed as part of the nationalised airline's drastic economy drive. Making the announcement, Sir Miles Thomas, Deputy Chairman of the BOAC, said that "sizeable economies in overseas station costs are rapidly being made effective."
—Reuter.

GENERAL SLIM AT THE PALACE

London, November 4.
General Sir William Slim was received in audience by the King at Buckingham Palace today on his appointment as Chief of the Imperial General Staff.
The King also received in audience Lieutenant-General N.W. Irwin on relinquishing the post of G.O.C., West Africa Command.—Reuter.

French Coal Strike Just About Finished

Paris, November 4.

The month-old French coal strike is "just about finished" and the pits will be in full production by the beginning of next week, M. Robert Lasco, the Ministry of Industry, declared in a broadcast today.

This prospect "has raised to the highest pitch the race for destruction and the wish for reprisals of the most fanatical and haughty of the strike leaders," he declared.

In five pits of the Pas de Calais Northern coalfields deliberate damage had been done to winding gear, and even winding installation cost 15 million francs. In other pits, M. Lasco said, trucks filled with rubble had been thrown down the pit shafts.

"Bricks and stones have been thrown at the windows of workers who had made plain their desire to work. Engineers' houses have been attacked with showers of bolts and revolvers. Fire-raising devices have been thrown at houses. Motor-cars belonging to engineers and non-Communist trade union leaders have been burned."

"Shots were fired at a motor coach carrying miners. A rail 12 metres long was unbolting on a line over which a workers' train was due to pass and the train was derailed."

Return To Work

M. Lasco said that those who had attacked the homes of their working comrades would be punished by justice "with exceptional severity."

Reporting that coal miners who have been on strike were returning to work in increasing numbers, a French National Coal Board spokesman this evening gave Reuter the following attendance percentages for this morning's shift.

Northern region: Valenciennes 60%; Douai 48%; Oignies 54%; Lens 28.
Other regions: Lorraine 100%; Loire 74%; Cevennes 32; Blanz 33; Aquitaine 44; Provence 30.
Coal extraction had begun slowly, many of the pits being damaged, or flooded and yesterday, the spokesman said, 45,500 tons were brought to the surface.

Ships Held Up

At Marseilles, France's largest port, over 50 ships were still strike-bound today. About 3,000 striking seamen, nearly all members of the CGT Union, were demanding salary increases from their employers.

The seamen are asking for the new CGT minimum, not approved by the Government, of 15,500 francs a month. Negotiations were continuing between the ship-owners and union delegations, a seamen's spokesman said.

Shipowners were meeting privately tonight to consider the situation. The spokesman said: "I have the impression the strike will almost certainly not end this week."

The 'non-Communist' Force Ouvriere Federation criticised the Government's latest price fixing moves as "ridiculous and insufficient."

The 'non-Communist' Force Ouvriere Federation decided to demand a revision of the wage-zoning scheme, free discussion of collective agreements and a bold policy for lowering prices.—Reuter.

LEGATIONS NOW EMBASSIES

Wellington, November 4.
The United States and New Zealand will raise their Legations to the rank of Embassies, the acting Premier, Mr. Walter Nash, announced today.

The first New Zealand Ambassador in Washington will be Sir Carl Berendsen, Minister, there July, 1944.
Mr. Robert M. Scotten, Minister in New Zealand since April, 1948, will be the United States new Ambassador.—Reuter.

Mr. Nehru Confident Of Peace

Calcutta, November 4.

The Prime Minister of India, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, today expressed his confidence that there would be no war. He had arrived at Calcutta earlier today on his way home from the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference in London and the United Nations General Assembly in Paris.

Although the world is witnessing a most severe political crisis, he said, there are strong peace factors everywhere. The two big blocs are not prepared for war and therein lies the peoples' salvation.

He gave a warning that if any further "aggressive action" was taken in Indonesia by a colonialist power it might have "grave repercussions in India and the world."

Pandit Nehru said there must be "complete elimination of colonial imperialism there." He is due to arrive in Delhi on Saturday.—Reuter.

Perlin Wants Western Mark

Berlin, November 4.

The City Assembly, meeting in the British Sector tonight, unanimously adopted a resolution requesting the three Western Military Governments to declare the new Western mark the sole legal currency in the Western Sectors of the city.

Both Eastern and Western marks circulate in the Western half of the city at present, but at the Western exchange booths, the new Western marks can be obtained for the Western mark.

Tonight's meeting, boycotted as usual by the Communist-dominated Socialist Unity Party, was held in an unheated room at the students' hall.—Reuter.

DECISIVE DEFEAT FOR THE SOVIET

Paris, November 4.

The United Nations General Assembly, overriding Russian objections, tonight gave overwhelming support to the Western plan for the international control of atomic energy.

Ignoring Soviet charges that the plan was an American plot to obtain a "monopoly over atomic energy," 40 nations lined up in favour of the plan.

The scheme gives international body full control over the mining of uranium, the production of nuclear fuel and the manufacture of atomic weapons.

The six Eastern powers voted against and four nations abstained. At the same time, the Assembly left the door open for Soviet Russia and her Eastern European associates to change their minds and join with the majority of the other United Nations members.

The Assembly endorsed a proposal which:
1.—Approves the plan originally known as the "Baruch Plan" for the international control of atomic energy.
2.—Instructs the Atomic Energy Commission, which has reached a complete deadlock in the past 30 months, to continue its work which it considers "practicable and useful."
3.—Appoints a "Committee of Six", consisting of the "Big Five" together with Canada to meet during the coming year to see whether the Soviet Government is prepared to change its attitude and to report to the next Assembly.

Premature

Canada has been chosen as a member of the Committee because as an important producer of atomic energy she sits on the Atomic Energy Commission.

When the President of the Assembly called on Mr. Hector McNeill (Britain) to speak after the lunch adjournment, Mr. McNeill shook his head and kept his place. After Belgium and Poland had also refused their turns to speak, General A. G. L. McNaughton, of Canada, took the rostrum.

He opposed the Indian proposal that the Atomic Energy Commission should at once go ahead with the drawing up of a treaty on international control.

He said it would be premature for the Commission to work on these lines while the "Big Five" and Canada were consulting together to find a basis of agreement.

Mr. Julius Kaut-Suchy (Poland) then said, "The United States has systematically prevented any attempts to carry out the General Assembly resolutions demanding international control and the abolition of the atomic bomb."

Matter Of Principle

He added that the Soviet resolution on atomic energy presented the basis for a way of banning the use for ever of atomic energy for war.

Mr. McNeill then rose, following the Polish delegate's speech, and declared that the Soviet Union had failed to answer the specific questions put to them on the form of atomic energy control they would accept.

He said "It is very hard for anyone of our delegation to refuse an offer of compromise. If Mr. Vyshinsky, thinks the question of quotas might serve to break the deadlock, then let us put it down on the agenda of the six for discussion right away."

"Mr. Vyshinsky knows perfectly well that what he divided us on this question is a matter of principle. The principle is whether there will be an agreement on an effective, adequate, comprehensive system of inspection and control."

Mr. Vyshinsky said that the Soviet proposals represented a tremendous advance on their previous position and that their practical aspect terrified anyone else who preferred to leave the question of control in a fog.

Blackett's Book

"But we have only to look at the detailed and specific recommendations of the Atomic Energy

Commission to see how they contrast with the obscure generalities we have heard from Mr. Vyshinsky and the other Eastern speakers.

"We have just got to look at these recommendations to see who is interested in generalities, and who is willing to come down to practical details."

Drating with Mr. Vyshinsky's arguments that America sought a monopoly of atomic energy, Mr. McNeill commented that he had based these arguments largely on a book by the British scientist, Professor Blackett.

Mr. McNeill then read extracts from this book which, he said, showed that Professor Blackett's argument was:

"This Soviet Government is justified in refusing international control because they have some military secret which they could launch upon the world (but I have no reason to believe that they do), because they have military installations which must be protected from inspection, while in the United States anyone can take photographs and Soviet diplomats can move around freely."

Premium On Dishonesty

"We must not therefore expose Soviet Russia to the dangers of international control, which would be entirely to her disadvantage. This means that this Assembly is to set up a solemn seal of approval on the proposition that there shall be a premium on secrecy, if not on dishonesty," Mr. McNeill added.

"The staffing and organisation of the proposed international agency has not yet even been discussed. If we cannot get the agreement on how the agency

Mosquito Crashes In Peiping

Peiping, November 5.

A Chinese Air Force plane crashed within the walls of Peiping yesterday afternoon killing the pilot and taking two other lives.

A Mosquito fighter-bomber was flying low when suddenly it plunged into a poor class district in the North West part of the city. It landed squarely on a house killing a woman and her 10-year-old child.

A number of other houses was damaged. The plane was on a training flight when the disaster occurred.—Associated Press.

should be run, then there will be no agency."

Mr. McNeill said everyone could be perfectly certain that Britain would consent to hand over only to a truly international organization. "We are prepared to contemplate a form of international ownership which would amount to a reformulation of sovereign rights in this field. So, we believe, are most other governments."

"But the Soviet Government, for reasons which have not been very clearly explained, are not prepared to bind themselves to this reformulation.
"Mr. Vyshinsky said that the question of quotas might help to resolve the deadlock. This is a delicate question which has also not yet been discussed, but my Government is prepared to discuss it if it offers a hope of agreement."

Plan Approved

The General Assembly rejected by 40 votes to six, with five abstentions, the Soviet proposal for two treaties.

By 40 votes to six, with four abstentions, the Assembly accepted the Western resolution. Based on a Canadian draft, this resolution laid the seal of the Assembly's approval on the Western control plan drawn up by the Atomic Energy Commission, and instructed it to "continue its study" of the problem before it and asked the Big Five and Canada to consult together "in order to determine if there exists a basis for agreement on international control."

Anastasiyev were India, South Africa, Afghanistan and Venezuela. The six votes against were cast by the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia, Byelo-Russia and the Ukraine.—Reuter.

RUSSIANS RAISE OLD PROPOSAL

Washington, November 5.

Russia today renewed a proposal for international controls to prevent revival of Japan's war industry.

The Soviet Ambassador, Alexander S. Panyushkin, asked the Far Eastern Commission to consider the proposal, first submitted on September 23. Panyushkin said Russian "naturally" is ready to discuss other proposals on the issue of dividing Japanese industry according to peace and war purposes.

The Soviet proposals call for control for several years "to be exercised by the powers most interested in preventing a new Japanese aggression."

This presumably would include Russia.

General Douglas MacArthur, as Supreme Allied Commander, now has responsibility for demilitarising Japan. He has declared the process to be substantially completed.

Panyushkin submitted a 600-word statement at a closed session of the FEC, and then made it public as he has done with other statements on Japan in recent weeks.

Meanwhile the US Government announced that "qualified" Japanese will be allowed to travel to the US for training and education not available in Japan.

The announcement is based on a policy approved by General MacArthur and the US State and Army Departments.

Japanese may come to America for training in "education, Religion, science, information and general cultural fields," or for other purposes authorized by MacArthur. All expenses must be paid by a sponsor, either an individual or an institution.—Associated Press.

JAPANESE BUSINESSMEN TO BE PERMITTED TO TRAVEL ABROAD

Washington, November 4.

London Stock Exchange

London, November 4.

Prices of dollar stocks were steady with occasional improvement. Trading was small but produced a preponderance of buyers.

In all other sections, there was a mixed picture. Tobacco, textiles, oil, craft and steel issues, due for nationalisation, were quiet. Others not under the shadow of a takeover, remained firm. There was some fairly widespread buying of British Government stocks. Most issues recorded gains of 4% with Transport 3% at a new high level of 104 1/2.

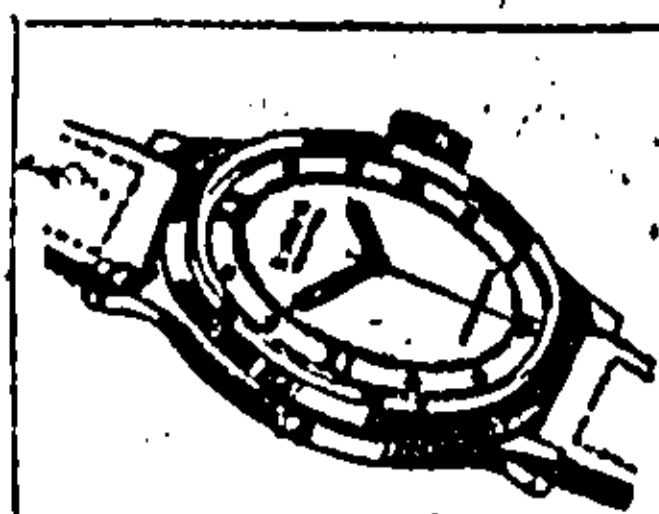

The oil market was irregular but there was a fair sprinkling of improvements in small trading. Foreign rolls showed useful gains in Brazilian issues. The South African gold mining section featured a sharp rise in certain. Far Western issues, on development prospects, were quiet.

The other game between Tsui Yun-pui and Miss Kent, and Mr. Lee and Mrs. Lee, was postponed, and will be played on Tuesday.

In the Club Mixed Doubles, Mr. Lee and Mrs. Lee beat Mr. and Mrs. Baker, 6-4, 4-6 and 6-4.

In the Colony's hard court championship at the Chinese Recreation Club, Turner-Cook beat Li Ching-hing by a score of 6-3, 6-3.

Kowloon Tourney

The final match in the Kowloon Club Tennis Tournament between Tao Shoo-pui and Percy Chen and John Kwok and Liang Kuo-hwa will be played tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Consolation of the match will be the first post-war tennis tournament of the Club in which all members have participated.

Prizes will be presented to the winners and runners-up when the final match is completed.

"Y" TO HOLD
TENNIS TOURNEY

The European YMCA Tennis Club will hold an American tournament for its members on Sunday, starting at 2 p.m. in King's Park.

More than 30 members have entered their names to take part in the game, including a number of ladies.

Partners will be drawn and a list posted up on the notice board at the YMCA lobby.

The three tennis courts of the Y have undergone a season of mowing and are in top condition for good tennis.

Tea and refreshments catered by the Y Cafeteria will be available during the afternoon.

The hockey encounter between the Navy and Recreation originally fixed for 10 a.m. tomorrow will be played at the Causeway Bay ground at 4 p.m.

Most of the interest in today's soccer programme will centre on the First Division game at Caroline Hill between the two Chinese teams—Eastern and South China "B".

The match at Boundary Street between Police and St. Joseph's is also likely to have a large following and should be well worth watching.

The best match of the afternoon tomorrow should be that at Caroline Hill, where South China "A" will entertain Royal Navy.

Turning to the games for this evening, St. Joseph's, on their current form, should take home the victory in their match against Police at Boundary Street, the scene of their dramatic win over Chinese A.A. on October 16.

The Police have a habit, however, of bringing off the impossible at times and for this reason, those who are prepared to make the journey to Boundary Street can be assured of an interesting tussle.

A capacity crowd is expected at Caroline Hill, where Eastern meets South China "B". Both teams are evenly matched, but Eastern have the better record up to date. Provided they have not allowed their defeat at the hands of K.M.B. last week to upset them, Eastern should win.

At Happy Valley, Club will be at home to Kowloon Police but although Club have always been known to give of their best when matched against Chinese teams, it is difficult to envisage a Club victory this afternoon. On the face of it, Club's recent string of victories is due to be broken.

Best Of Three

Of the three games down for decision tomorrow afternoon, the best should be that between South China "A" and Royal Navy at Caroline Hill. The Chinese will undoubtedly be holding all the cards in this match, for this time Olympic "Stars" for the Navy line-up has always earned for the sailors a certain amount of respect.

The only weakness in the Navy team last week was the forward line. If the sailors can tomorrow give the Chinese a good run and prevent them from having matters entirely their own way.

The other two matches to be played tomorrow should be re-run in both Army and Chinese A.A. netting full points at the expense of RAF and K.M.B. respectively.

School Football came into its own on Sunday last and a full programme of matches completed without any hitch.

In connection with School football, one of the most noticeable features about the game, played on Sunday last was the fact that in certain cases, those who acted as referees were not fully qualified to do so. It is felt that the continued use of unqualified referees for School football is likely to result in more harm than good.

It might perhaps be in order to mention here that the Committee of Seven which was appointed last year to inquire into the existing state of football in Hong Kong did state that it was anticipated that the revival of school football would do much in the training of the best type of players in future years.

This hope is not likely to be realized if matches are going to be handled by unqualified referees, who seem to possess but a scant knowledge of the laws of the game.

In the interests of the game and to ensure that the youngsters do not grow up with ill conceived notions as to the laws of the game, it is hoped that those qualified referees who have not as yet offered to officiate at school matches, will come forward and do their bit.

Scorpions Favoured
Over Kowloon Team

(By "MID ON")

In spite of the many counter-attractions, including the Races, a number of League and friendly cricket matches will be played today. The best game on the card should be the Club "Scorpions"-Kowloon encounter at Chater Road.

"Scorpions" had some of their sting taken out of them by Recreation at King's Park last week. Kowloon were held to a draw by Craigengower at Happy Valley. I forecast a win for the "Scorpions" who have the advantage of playing on their own ground.

"Scorpions" will be strengthened by the inclusion of Dicky Richardson and G. A. Stewart, both of whom have made useful scores. D. H. Leach and Atwell will be taking the places of C. D. Wales and Gee.

Kowloon have also made two changes in their team. P. Smith and N. Kart Baker will take the places of V. I. White and A. T. Lee.

Craigengower make the trip to K.M.B. where they will play R.A.F. In spite of the splendid show they put up against K.C.C. last week, I rather doubt if the Valley club will be able to come away with more than one point (for a draw) at most.

Although Indian Recreation Club will be playing on their own ground, I doubt if they will be able to do more than draw. The best unlikely bowler, D. McLeish, an extremely useful all-rounder, will be playing for "Optimists". He will have to be watched by the IRC bats as he is ever a dangerous, albeit somewhat untrusty, bowler.

Recreation, who scored a creditable win over "Scorpions" last week, have taken advantage of the fact that Monday is a holiday to play off the fixture with the Valley. They should win, while their seconds should also take the points when they meet K.C.C. juniors.

Despite my appeal to Club secretaries for fixture cards last week, I have only received three. Below, however, are some of the teams:

The "Test" Match
A "Test" match has been arranged between England and Australia at Chater Road on Monday and a very interesting game should result. I trust this will be the forerunner of many such games of an international competition, in fact, for teams representing Portugal, India and China will, I feel sure, take part in another holiday game will be that between the Cricket Club "Occasionals" against a team led by Teddy Fincher on the Club ground tomorrow morning. These holiday games are more enjoyable than the League affairs and it is to be hoped that more of them will be arranged as the season progresses.

Indian R.C.
1st XI v. "Optimists" (Home): A. R. Abbas (Capt.), A. el Arzouli, A. K. Ismail, S. A. Ismail, S. H. Khan, A. R. Kitchell, A. H. Madar, K. Nazarin, I. M. Omar, M. I. Razack and A. R. Sufaid. Umpire: G. N. Butt.

Hong Kong C.C.

NINE EVENTS TO BE RUN AT HAPPY VALLEY

There is every reason to anticipate a large gathering at the Ninth Extra Race Meeting, which will be held this afternoon at Happy Valley.

There were originally eight events on the programme, but owing to the large number of entries for the "Ping Chau Handicap," the Stewards have decided to run the race in two sections. The Second section will be race 1A and run at 1.30 p.m. The First Bell will be rung at 1.00 p.m. There will be no Cash Sweep on this race.

General satisfaction will be felt over the fact that Mr. C. L. Gregory has now fully recovered from the injury he sustained whilst in training on the morning of October 30 when he took out Gilda for a trial gallop. He will be donning colours this afternoon.

This meeting will mark the appearance of Mr. R. L. Tam, an Owner-Jockey, who has had riding experience in Tsingto. Messrs. L. L. Tao and A. Ostroumoff will be seen in action this afternoon, the former having returned from the North last week after visiting his father, and the latter has had his suspension lifted at the end of last month.

A warm welcome is extended to The Hon. A. Morse, C.B.E., Chairman of the Hong Kong Jockey Club, who has recently arrived back from home after a holiday, and will no doubt be seen in his usual place amongst the Stewards.

Race No. 1A—Ping Chau Handicap (Second Section):

The day's programme will open with a race confined to Australian ponies Class 8, and a perusal of the entries would seem to indicate that the following should be prominent—Busted Straight (Mr. Ostroumoff), Princess Delight (Mr. B. L. Tao), National Glory (Mr. Chanson), and Harvard (Mr. Pote-Hunt).

Busted Straight came third in the Granville Stakes (First Section) at the double Tenth Meeting, second day, over one mile with Mr. Castro up, and as it will be ridden by Mr. Chanson, the prospects of scoring a win rather bright. Over this distance, Princess Delight looks dangerous and I expect it to give Busted Straight a good run.

The best that National Glory can do is to take third place, but the pony is fit and a win here is not out of the question. The race should resolve into a struggle between these three ponies, with Harvard ridden by Mr. Pote-Hunt capable of creating an upset.

Race No. 1—Ping Chau Handicap (First Section): Six Furlongs.

In this first section of the race for Australian ponies Class 8, I don't think we need look beyond the following for the potential winners—Emperors Gate (Mr. Needa), Silver Wheel (Mr. H. S. Chang), Ame. Clipper (Mr. Shieh), and Kookaburra (Mr. Rowlands).

Emperors Gate will have an opportunity to score its first win of its racing career, and if it does not do so this afternoon over this distance it will be some time before it does win a race. Purkers will no doubt remember that in the Granville Stakes (Second Section) over the mile at the double Tenth Meeting, second day, Emperors Gate carrying 155 lbs. came in second to Happy Boy after a very hard start, and for that reason alone it should win.

Silver Wheel must be regarded as a potential challenger. If not for a win at least for a place as the pony has won a race over this distance in the Seventh Extra Race Meeting. Ame. Clipper is in fine condition at the moment and if it can only get on to a good start will prove dangerous. Kookaburra with a change of jockey in Mr. Rowlands can be depended on over this distance, and as an outsider it is worth following.

Race No. 2—Waglan Handicap (First Section): One And A Quarter Miles.

First lot of Class 5, Australian ponies will do battle over the Champion distance for supremacy and looking over the entries it is certainly no easy matter to pick the winner, though it will probably be one of the following—Flying Tiger (Mr. B. L. Tao), Myster (Mr. Ostroumoff), Chief Pilot (Mr. Gregory), A Grand Time (Mr. Pote-Hunt) and Countess Delight (Mr. C. F. Ng).

Judging from its run in the Princess Hill Handicap (Second Section) over the two mile post at the Seventh Extra meeting when it won, Flying Tiger appears to have an opportunity of scoring a win here. Myster which was a neck behind the above pony in this same race is quite capable of regaining this defeat, and it will be interesting to see if it can do so.

Chief Pilot in view of the win in the Humphreys Handicap (First Section) at the double Tenth Meeting will find strong support and I will not be surprised to see it give the above two ponies a good run to the end.

A Grand Time (Mr. Pote-Hunt) is not to be neglected. This pony, which was a runner-up in the Race No. 3—Cheung Chau Stakes (Second Section): One Mile.

This race is confined to second section Class 5 Australian ponies, and it is very difficult to point out a likely winner. Bootsie speeds is the best of the entries, and should prove the best over this distance. Black Market (Mr. Ostroumoff) appears capable of extending Daisy Bell, but even with 147 lbs. to carry, Vagabond King (Mr. Gregory) should have something to say about the finish.

Fifth Alarm (Mr. Brodie) has come down to 139 lbs. and over a sprint race it should be well in Amazon (Mr. Maitland) and Meteor (Mr. Wong Yau) are not to be neglected. Wodonga with Mr. Kwok up is also to be considered as it is essentially a sprinter.

Race No. 4—Waglan Handicap (Second Section): One And A Quarter Miles.

This race is confined to second section Class 5 Australian ponies, and it is very difficult to point out a likely winner. Bootsie speeds is the best of the entries, and should prove the best over this distance. ELECTED
LIFE MEMBER

Mr. H. Owen-Hughes was elected a Life Member of the Hong Kong Cricket Club at the Club's annual general meeting yesterday. According to the Club's constitution Life Membership is restricted to six at a time.

It also mentioned that a Combined Services team is due to arrive here on November 12 and play its first match with the Club. Squash has become so popular that a League has been proposed.

In the lawn bowls field, the Club secured a promotion to the First Division.
